it's SMMart to join
the world's #1 event
for the maritime industry

When it comes to meeting up with all the leading stakeholders of the global maritime industry, there's no place like SMM. It's here where the key players of the various sectors discuss and introduce solutions that define benchmarks for the age of Green and Smart Shipping.

The bi-annual trade fair and its accompanying conferences offer an unparalleled platform for inspiration, networking and business for exhibitors and visitors alike. Harboured by Hamburg, Germany's beautiful maritime metropolis, SMM welcomes anyone who is interested in the future of the shipping industry.

Besides offering a comprehensive overview on fields like digitalisation, green propulsion and maritime security, SMM is also known for highlighting special topics as well as setting up successful formats. At SMM 2018, exhibitors and visitors enjoyed a range of on-site innovations:

- Maritime 3D-Printing Show Area
- SMM Hackathon
- Forum "Maritime Career Market"
- Cruise & Ferry Route
- Extended Interior Outfitting exhibition area
- TradeWinds Shipowners Forum
- Offshore Dialogue focused on arctic and deep-sea technology

»The shipping industry is in a phase of upheaval. The main drivers of this change are digitalisation and the increasing demands on climate and environmental protection. SMM as the leading trade fair for the maritime industry opens up excellent opportunities to discuss these challenges intensively with all stakeholders.«

Alfred Hartmann
President, German Shipowners' Association

choose your event from discussing the future to meeting high potentials

The Maritime Future Summit marks the start of the conference series. Held on the eve of SMM, it attracts thought-leaders of the maritime industry who share their views on the most pressing topics. On the first day of SMM, TradeWinds Shipowners Forum provides a first-class interactive discussion format. The following day has gmec, the global maritime environmental congress, debating the challenges of green change.

On 10 September, the time has come to tackle the exploitation of marine resources at Offshore Dialogue. It's also the start of MS&D, the international conference on maritime security and defence, which will again stretch over two days and take up political, technological and strategic challenges of the maritime industry. On the final day, the Maritime Career Market provides companies and institutions an excellent opportunity to get in touch with potential employees.

we pave the way for your business success

Exhibiting at SMM is all about raising attention, initiating communication and, last but not least, generating business success. That's why we offer you a wealth of marketing tools that help you make the most of your appearance at SMM. One that comes for free is our hashtag #SMMfair – please use it when posting on social media.

To attract the attention of your target groups at an early stage, we also offer marketing measures prior to SMM. The wide range of options includes newsletter ads to feature your product as well as an online and in-app presence including banners and logos.

At the event, our numerous on-site ad spaces and digital signage solutions help you raise attention. Moreover, our Smart Matching service in combination with our Online Exhibitor Directory recommends your brand to potential leads that you can manage easily with our LeadTracking service and export into your CRM system.

Our marketing tools enable you to

- reach out to new and existing customers long before and during SMM
- raise attention for your themes, products and exhibition appearance
- distinguish your brand from competitors
- facilitate your customers' route to your stand and manage leads comfortably

Our Media Service Team is happy to guide you through our range of advertising options.

join our theme routes
we lead the visitors to your stand

With five theme routes, we make it easy for visitors to find exhibitors in their area of interest. It's smart to join, if one of them fits your offering. Participating exhibitors will be colour-marked specifically in all the exhibitor directories online and offline and in the SMM app. Visitors can view them on any device and arrange a personal shortlist. The exhibitors of each route are also marked in the hall plans of the visitor guide.

discover a city of maritime superlatives
come for SMM,
stay for the weekend

Once you arrive in Germany's beautiful maritime metropolis, you certainly notice the river Elbe and the country's largest seaport with the city's new landmark, the Elbphilharmonie. TIME magazine ranks the concert hall in its latest list of the "World's Greatest Places". Its stunning facade is a promise of what to expect inside.

Hamburg is known to have more bridges than Amsterdam and Venice together, but what strikes even more is that it bridges maritime tradition and modernity in many ways. The city brims with architectural greatness, an abundance of culture and nightlife beyond compare. On top of that, it offers space to relax. One of its rambling municipal parks, Planten un Blomen, is located vis-à-vis the Central and the East Entrance to SMM. Only a few steps away from the action on the trade fair floor, you will find idyllic ponds, tropical greenhouses and a classic Japanese Garden, the largest of its kind in Europe.

Of course, the port is particularly rich in superlatives. It's home to the Speicherstadt, which is the world's largest warehouse complex and Germany's 40th UNESCO World Heritage Site, as well as the International Maritime Museum, which harbours the world's largest private collection showing maritime history from 3,000 years ago until today.

Here, we can only give you a glimpse of the city's many highlights. If you plan your trip, consider staying in Hamburg for the weekend and find out more at smm-hamburg.com/hamburg
